YANKS CONTINUE DRIVE ACROSS AFRICA

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH. FAYETTE
You thirsty folks who cannot get enough coffee. Do you know that coffee trees grow right here in Fayette County?
Well, it's a fact, but don't build up your hopes too strongly on obtaining your raw coffee direct from the trees in Fayette County, for I fear the quantity is insufficient to go around—and then again, you might not care for the flavor.
During the Civil War when coffee was really scarce, and acorns and nearly everything else that could be used as a substitute supplanted the real Brazilian or Java coffee, the beans from the Kentucky coffee tree were collected, dried, ground and used as a coffee substitute.
In fact many of the poorer people of the mountain regions where the coffee tree, or cascara buckthorn, use the beans regularly for making a beverage.
A large number of the coffee trees (Gynocladus dioica) grow in this part of Ohio, many of them being found along Sugar and lower Paint creeks.
They resemble the familiar honey locust trees, to a marked extent, except they have few, and sometimes none of the thorns on the trunks and none on the branches. The trunks are usually gray and the trees attain a considerable height.
The beans are in huge, flat, maroon pods similar to the honeylocust pods, and recently in Pike County I noticed that chipmunks had stripped the pods of the beans and stored them for the winter—not as a beverage but as a delicious food.
Sometime ago I noticed several of the coffee trees growing within 100 feet of the home of Mr. and Mrs. "Dutch" Rife at Cedarhurst, so Dutch and Lucille can gather their coffee for breakfast, right from their backyard, if they wish.

GERMANS EASE UP DRIVE IN RUSSIA
MOSCOW, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The German drive on Stalingrad and the push toward the Georgian military highway in the Caucasus appeared to have dwindled today to a series of light clashes in widely separated sectors, but the Russians reported they were digging away at German positions and cutting down Nazi strength wherever it was encountered.
The mid-day communique reported that the Germans succeeded in crossing a river north-east of Tuapse on the Black Sea and repulsed several tanks Russian troops. Another German attack in a sector of the Nalchik front in the Caucasus likewise was repulsed and several tanks destroyed, it was reported.
At Stalingrad there was only light activity.

EDNA MAY OLIVER IS CALLED BY DEATH
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The long career of Edna May Oliver, the outspoken, crochety but lovable screen character, has ended.
The character actress and comedienne died yesterday on the 59th anniversary of her birth, surrounded by birthday messages from friends and fans in the earth's far corners. She peacefully fell asleep, said Virginia Hammond, her companion.
Miss Oliver knew that death from an intestinal disorder was not far away and asked Miss Hammond to arrange a simple funeral.

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Plans for a fire sale had to be cancelled by the West End Furniture Co.—because of a fire. The sale was scheduled after a minor blaze in a storage room October 30, Saturday night, after the sale today had been advertised, a serious fire caused $12,000 damage to the store's stock.

GAS RATIONING POSTPONEMENT IS NOW LIKELY

Delay in Delivery of Cards
And Forms in Some Sections To Blame

REGISTRATION UNCERTAIN

Turn-in Period for Extra
Tires Would Also Be Extended, Says OPA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Delay in the delivery of ration books and forms is causing the Office of Price Administration to "consider seriously" the postponement of gasoline rationing in all presently unrationed areas, an OPA spokesman said today.
A more definite announcement is expected soon. The original date for beginning nationwide rationing was November 22.
However, responsible OPA officials in Chicago reported that gasoline rationing would be postponed in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and the Dakotas—"and probably nationally in the interests of uniformity." They declined to be quoted by name.
A similar disclosure has been made in Cleveland, covering the states of Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan and Indiana.
The Washington spokesman indicated that if there is a delay the start of rationing probably will be delayed from November 22 until some date a week or ten days later.
At the same time OPA disclosed it had authorized its regional offices to delay school registration for the basic "A" ration books in any region in the presently unrationed area where there has been delay in delivery of the necessary forms. The registration dates previously set were November 12-14.
These dates will remain in effect unless regional officials exercise their option of ordering a postponement. The San Francisco regional office announced last night it was giving motorists in five western states—California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Arizona—six days' delay in the registration dates. The new dates in this far western area are November 18-20, inclusive.
The regional office said the time extension also would apply to the tire turn-in campaign; in other words, that motorists would be given six additional days to dispose of all tires in excess of five per car, a prerequisite to obtaining an "A" ration book.
The start of rationing under "T" books for trucks, taxis, and other commercial vehicles in the east as well as in the middle west and far west, is in the same status as the rationing of passenger cars, the spokesman said, emphasizing, however, that final determination had not yet been made on the delay.

Axis Desperate as Leaders Meet

By E. C. DANIEL
LONDON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler, Benito Mussolini and Pierre Laval were reported meeting in Rome today and unofficial quarters in London believed the Fuehrer and his two satellites from Italy and Vichy France were considering some desperate blow to halt the British-American advances in North Africa.
The likeliest spot for the Italian fleet, Axis air forces and possibly the French fleet to strike appeared to be Tunisia through which president Roosevelt has said the American expeditionary force intends to advance to attack Marshal Rommel from behind.
The spoils left by the defeated Axis army in Egypt are enormous. Included in the booty are great quantities of Allied supplies, captured by the Axis in the advance to El Alamein, as well as stores of German and Italian material.
Here was evidence of how the Germans are squeezing food out of the countries they have occupied—and Italy as well—to feed the German army. There were enormous supplies of tinned Danish hams and bacon, Norwegian sardines and herring, Dutch sausages, French and Italian wines and Italian mineral water and canned vegetables. There also was the best German gingerbread from Nuernberg, tinned meat, butter, vegetables, excellent ry bread and Munich beer. Judging by this food dump, the German army is fed better than the British army—at least the German officers are.
The desert is strewn with vehicles, guns, tanks and other equipment which are being put into service by the British whenever it is practical.
It was believed that the Italians, facing the fearsome prospect of Allied control of the whole southern Mediterranean shore, would attempt some desperate counterstroke.
Laval's inclusion in an Axis conference was considered natural since the German foreign office spokesman announced yesterday the new situation in North Africa affects the terms of the armistice with Vichy.

A change in armistice terms could concern either the use by the Axis of the French fleet, or the occupation of the rest of France or available parts of the French empire.
Axis strategy was handicapped, however, by the notable weakness of their air forces in the Mediterranean of late.
Although the Berlin radio hopefully broadcast that the main French fleet had steamed from its European base at Toulon on Sunday, nothing has been heard from it yet.

FRENCH RESISTANCE WEAKENING AS MORE ALLIED TROOPS LAND; DARLAN IS HELD BY AMERICANS

Battered Axis Desert Army Put in Squeeze by British and U. S. Forces Dashing in from Both Sides—French Joining Allies and Italians Surrendering

AFRICAN WAR AT A GLANCE
(By The Associated Press)
American vanguards are moving toward Libya.
Oran, chief French port and naval base, has been entered by a tank-led United States column.
Casablanca, rejecting an offered armistice, is being pounded from the sea and enclosed by land encirclement.
More United States landings are reported in southern Morocco.
The crumbling of Vichy resistance:
Admiral Jean Darlan is a prisoner of the Americans at Algiers.
Marshal Petain himself has assumed Darlan's command of all Vichy French forces.
The Germans have sent Field Marshall Erwin Von Witzleben to North Africa to coordinate the colonial defenses, according to a Russian report.
The United States command has announced its readiness to accept General Henri Giraud as leader of an anti-Vichy uprising in French North Africa.
Pierre Laval is reported to have gone to Rome to take stock with Premier Mussolini of the peril suddenly arising in the south against Axis Europe.
The rout of Rommel:
Britain's army of the Nile is smashing at Axis rearwards making their last stand on Egyptian soil.
Prime Minister Churchill called the battle of Egypt a "remarkable and definite victory... a new experience... perhaps the end of the beginning."

(By The Associated Press)
Tank-led American troops entered the French naval base at Oran today—the second big Mediterranean port to fall in less than 48 hours—while a United States column struck out southeastward from Algiers toward Italian Libya in a move to trap the retreating Axis armies from Egypt.
In London, Prime Minister Churchill declared emphatically that the United States "mighty undertaking" in North Africa was "for one purpose and one purpose only—namely to gain vantage ground from which to open a new front against Hitler."
Unconfirmed reports said Italian troops had arrived at the French Tunisian naval base of Bizerte, which might be used as a springboard for Axis counterattacks.
As the situation boiled to a climax, with American forces reported everywhere successful, Axis leaders were reported frantically seeking means to effect counterblows.
Soviet quarters in London said German Field Marshal Erwin Von Witzleben had arrived in North Africa to direct Vichy (French) operations, and there was some speculation that the French fleet might attempt to put in at Bizerte, on the Tunisian coast before U. S. forces arrive there.
The Berlin radio hopefully broadcast reports that the main French fleet had steamed from its European base at Toulon on Sunday, but nothing has been heard from it so far.
Dispatches from La Linea, Spain, reported the arrival of powerful Allied naval reinforcements at Gibraltar, including the British aircraft carrier Furious, six destroyers and 22 merchant ships.
The 35,000-ton British battleship Nelson and other warships were reported anchored in the harbor, while overhead many fighter planes kept up a constant patrol.
Tank-led U. S. Army soldiers and paratroopers were reported attacking a series of key points along the Mediterranean and Atlantic coasts, with heavy fighting raging at Casablanca and Orleansville, 100 miles east of fallen Oran.
Algiers, the capital of Algeria, had previously surrendered Sunday night.
Simultaneously, an Allied headquarters spokesman announced that Admiral Jean Darlan, chief of all Vichy armed forces, was in Algiers in custody of U. S. forces.
The spokesman said Darlan was being "entertained with all the consideration due his rank."
Vichy broadcast reported "superior armored forces" were vigorously attacking Casablanca, in French Morocco, but declared that Vichy troops were still holding out at the eastern approaches of the city.
The broadcast said French coastal batteries and the 35,000-ton battleship Jean Bart were vigorously replying to the Allied assaults.
"American tanks entered Oran at 11:45 today," a Vichy (French) broadcast announced.
"Landing forces occupied the

General Giraud Escapes Nazi Prison Camp To Lead French with Allies

ly in the common cause" left Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower well satisfied with the North African campaign today.
Interview and communique built up the picture.
"The only thing I was disappointed in was the resistance of the French navy, particularly the coast batteries," the supreme commander said last night in a press conference.

Eisenhower said French resistance expended effort "which might be well used against the common enemy—Germany."
A communique from his headquarters announced that General Giraud, 63-year-old veteran who has escaped from German prison camps both in the first and second world wars, would form a French North African army with U. S. arms to fight alongside the Allies.
Giraud was reported to have reached Algeria from France.
"It can be expected," the communique said, "that his presence there will bring about a cessation of the scattered resistance which is tragic between soldiers who have the same enemy."
Eisenhower's communique said "he and I understand each other perfectly," the American said.
The commander in chief said a new American trench mortar had reduced a fort at Oran and he praised the weapon as an outstanding contribution to warfare.
The highest praise went to the British and American navies in the delivery of troops and supplies. The general said the naval war was "marvelous."

National Labor Draft Opposed by Commission

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt made public today a report of the war manpower commission's management-labor policy committee opposing immediate enactment of compulsory national service legislation and urging tightening of governmental manpower machinery.
The unanimous report called upon "government, industry, agriculture, and labor for strong leadership, aggressive action and maximum cooperation."
The committee urged that industry, agriculture and labor cooperate with the WMC to obtain "uniform acceptance and compliance" with its policies and directives.
These groups were urged further to help the WMC eliminate wasteful labor turnover in vital war work, speed the shifting of workers from non-essential to essential work and the training and hiring of those now unemployed, insure maximum use of the skills and capacities of workers, and accelerate the rate at which men now referred as "essential" workers can be released to the armed forces.
Democratic leaders in congress were called to the White House following release of the report to discuss the manpower situation.

TOUGH MARINES STILL ON DUTY

Jap Reinforcements To Be Made More Difficult
At Solomon Islands

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Lieutenant General Thomas Holcomb, Marine commandant, reported today that "things are shaping up" so that it will be increasingly more difficult for the Japanese to put reinforcements on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons.
Holcomb, who has just returned from a visit to Marine posts in the south Pacific, disclosed that the original Marine division which went into the Solomons to begin the first American offensive of the war, was still on front line duty there—a three months period of such duty which he said probably set a record for unbroken service under fire for Marine outfits.
The general recalled that when one division was held in the front line in the World war for a period of 40 days it was considered extraordinary and a tremendous strain on the men.
"The boys on Guadalcanal are tired and there isn't any doubt about it," Holcomb said. He added that some break down and have to be removed.
He also reported to a press conference that the American forces on Guadalcanal outnumber the Japanese there but he did not say by what margin.
Holcomb declared the fighting there had proved that "the young American marine and the young American soldier are individually superior to the Jap soldier in all respects."
As for the future outlook Holcomb said the Japs had been pouring in reinforcements into Guadalcanal at the rate of 900 every other day but that "things are shaping up so that there will be more interruptions to these reinforcements."
He put the number of enemy planes shot down in actual combat on Guadalcanal by October 23, at 320, a ratio of exactly five to one.
Carrying the fight to the enemy, American and Allied troops have encircled one Japanese position on New Guinea and apparently are holding the upper hand on Guadalcanal Island in the embattled Solomons.

Beef 'Ration' For U.S. Cut To 70 Percent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—If you bought three steaks a month last year, you're now entitled to only two and the extra one goes to the armed forces or to our Allies abroad.
That's the edict of the office of price administration under the terms of a new cut in civilian beef allowances effective immediately to make certain the men fighting this war "have all the meat they require."
Deputy administrator Paul M. O'Leary announced the order reducing by a further 10 percent the amount of beef slaughterers may put on the market for civilians in the Oct. 1-Dec. 31 quarter. This brought deliveries down to 70 percent of the amount sold in the same quarter of 1941.
At the same time, the OPA forbade slaughterers from exceeding their quotas by 10 percent in any quarter with the privilege of chopping that amount off the quota for the following period.

GERMANY BLASTED BY ALLIED BOMBERS

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—British bombers making their first night attack on Germany since October 15 last night attacked Hamburg and other targets in northwest Germany, the air ministry announced today.
Fifteen of the attacking aircraft are missing, it was announced.
"Cloud was widespread and crews reported severe icing but a considerable tonnage of bombs was dropped," the air ministry said.
The RAF in recent weeks has concentrated its night attacks on Italian centers, its last previous night raids having been on Genoa November 6 and 7.
Last night's excursion followed by daylight raids on occupied France by the United States army air forces and the RAF.

Italians Left To Die By Fleeing Nazi Army

By FRANK L. MARTIN
CAIRO, Nov. 10.—(AP)—The army of the Nile smashed today at the Axis rearguard making a last stand on Egyptian soil near the Libyan border, while far behind in the desert British searching parties found numerous groups of dead Italians who perished under the blazing African sun after being abandoned without sufficient food and water by their German Allies.
To the rear, one of the stark-est tragedies of the desert conflict was unfolding with British land and air searchers spotting up pitiful groups of Italians who survived the fate of their dead comrades.

The hapless Fascists, many of them suffering from exposure, told bitterly of being left by the Germans. They related that thousands of their Italian comrades were wandering lost in the desert with little or no hope of survival.
Group of boys found the body of Raymond Belevins, 25, a fugitive from the Lebanon prison camp, in a creek two miles southeast of here. He was sentenced to 5 to 30 years in July, 1938, for burglary of 36 Middletown residences. He escaped Oct. 2.

Gasoline Ration Registration Not Changed Here

POSTPONEMENT OF RATION DATE LOOMS, HOWEVER

No Change in Plans Unless Official Orders Received, Chairman Says

The county-wide registration for gasoline rationing will "go ahead as originally planned for Thursday, Friday and Saturday unless we get official specific instructions to defer it," W. L. O'Brien, chairman of the county's Rationing Board said late Tuesday afternoon after making frantic call to the state OPA headquarters for clarification of reports from Washington that rationing and the registration would "probably" be postponed because some states had not yet received the ration books and registration forms.

O'Brien said the state OPA headquarters could give him no definite information because none had yet been received from the national headquarters.

There is nothing but official instructions to interfere with the registration in Fayette County, the chairman said, explaining that "we have all of our supplies—both the books and the application forms."

Meanwhile, the superintendents of the two school systems—A. B. Murray, head of the city schools and W. J. Hilty, head of the county schools—continued to put the finishing touches on plans for the registration for the basic A-card registration the last three days of this week—Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

This first registration, they emphasized, is to be held at all of the schools during these three days. They expressed the hope that the car owners would themselves arrange to come in alphabetical order and suggested that those whose last names began with the letters from A to K come on Thursday, that those in the L to Z list come on Friday and, thus, leave Saturday for "mopping up" the put-offs and those who could not come during the first two days.

The teachers with the help of volunteers are to handle the registration under the supervision of the superintendents. The hours for all three days are 3 P. M. until 9 P. M.

The city schools, Supt. Murray said, would be dismissed at 2:30 P. M. these days to free the teachers for their wartime job. In the county schools, Supt. Hilty said, the time of dismissal has been left to the local boards but in most cases the classes will run on schedule. However, he made it plain that registrations would be handled either by the teachers or volunteers.

A meeting has been arranged by Supt. Murray for 2:30 P. M. Wednesday at the high school to give instructions to the volunteers and teachers. He explained that their help would reduce the waiting by registrants to the minimum.

Application blanks are available at all of the filling stations and the Automobile Club. They are to be filled out by the applicants and ready for presentation to the registrars. It is also essential that applicants have their license registration certificates and the serial numbers and makes of their tires.

It was emphasized that the registration this week was for the basic or A-card and that every automobile owner must have the A-card regardless of whether he intends to ask for larger rations.

The Ration Board Chairman said "there is an urgent need for women volunteers" to help with the supplemental registration to be held at the high school here the first three days of next week—unless orders for a deferment are received. He said that about "nough men have volunteered but that only two women have offered to help. A meeting at which explanations and instructions will be given them is to be held at Memorial Hall at 7:30 P. M. Tuesday (tonight). The chairman said he hoped that all who could help would come to this meeting. He repeated that "it is vital that more women volunteer" if this registration is to go off as smoothly as it should.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR CHARLES BALL

Farewell services for Charles Ball, former Bloomingburg resident, was held Monday at 2 P. M. at the Klever Funeral Home, and were attended by relatives, former neighbors and other friends.

Rev. John Glenn, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Bloomingburg, conducted the services, and also read the memoir and the hymns, "Abide With Me" and "Crossing the Bar."

The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Burial was made in the Bloomingburg cemetery.

The pallbearers were Robert Wilson, Charles Allemang, Frank Whiteside, Glenn Speaks, Frank Casey and Franz Betzold.

FARM BUREAU'S ANNUAL ROLL CALL PLANNED

Percie Kennell To Head Drive For Members in Community

The Farm Bureau board of directors at their regular November meeting made definite plans for the annual membership roll call which in reality got under way at the annual meeting last week. Already more than 50 members have voluntarily renewed their membership for 1943.

A membership committee consisting of Percie Kennell, Chairman, Glen L. Smith and Harold C. Mark, has been named by the Directors to work out the detailed plans of the program.

Due to the tire shortage, all the members are being contacted by mail and are asked to renew their membership for the coming year. This method is being used in nearly every county in the state and it is anticipated that a very favorable response will be given to the plan.

The townships will be definitely organized for a membership campaign and it is expected that a hundred volunteer workers will assist with the most complete coverage of the county in anticipation of reaching the goal of over 450 members. The state goal is 30,000.

Definite plans have been made for the holding of township annual meetings during December and January. Fayette County has been outstanding in holding such annual township meetings in the past. In years before, these meetings have been featured by a turkey supper and program. There will be some streamlining of these to the national war emergency.

YANKS CONTINUE DRIVE ACROSS AFRICA AS FRENCH RESISTANCE GETS WEAKER

hill and fort of Santa Cruz, dominating the bay."

The Vichy announcement following a previous broadcast declaring that Armistice negotiations had collapsed and that fighting continued at Oran this morning.

Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Allied headquarters reported the capture of more than 2,000 prisoners as American tanks closed in on the city from three directions, and said:

"Our casualties are light."

Other major targets of attack in the three-day-old "second front" offensive included Casablanca, Atlantic port 300 miles southwest of Gibraltar; Rabat, capital of French Morocco; and Philippeville, 250 miles east of Algiers.

Philippeville lies close to the frontier of Tunisia, whose government head, the Bey of Tunis, has been notified by President Roosevelt that American troops plan to pass through the colony to help trap the Axis armies in Libya.

Latest dispatches reported that the broken remnants of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Africa Corps were now fleeing westward into Libya, leaving only rearwards to oppose the victorious British 8th Army on the Egyptian-Libyan border.

A British communique said swiftly pursuing British vanguards engaged the Axis rearwards yesterday at Sidi Barrani, 184 miles west of the old El Alamein front, and at Salum, 230 miles west of El Alamein.

Dispatches said the frontier area was being cleared of the enemy, and it was apparent that Rommel, in headlong flight with approximately 25,000 of his original army of 140,000 troops, would make no attempt to defend the strategic Halfaya ("Hellfire") pass on the frontier.

Large numbers of Axis prisoners, chiefly Italians abandoned by their German allies, continued to pour into British detention camps in the desert.

Battlefield reports said the British were jubilant over President Roosevelt's word that American troops would move eastward across Tunisia to help in the final annihilation of the vaunted Nazi Africa Corps which only a few months ago threatened to overrun Egypt, the Suez and the entire Middle East.

Coincidentally, it was disclosed that British land and air troops now have landed in North Africa, bolstering the massive sea-borne American Expeditionary Force.

With the fall of Oran and Algiers, American troops had already gained virtual control of the Western Mediterranean shore of North Africa, and powerful contingents were striking around on the Atlantic side.

The Morocco radio said that American shock troops were continuing to debark at Mogador, 180 miles south of Casablanca, and that Gen. Auguste Mogues, commander in chief of Vichy's Moroccan forces, had moved his headquarters inland from Rabat. The airport at the latter place already had been abandoned.

Meanwhile, Paris dispatches said Jacques Doriot, head of the Pro-Nazi French people's party, demanded an immediate declaration of war against the United States and Great Britain today, while in Washington President Roosevelt declared:

No act of Hitler or any of his puppets can sever relations between the American people and the people of France. We have not broken relations with the French. We never will.

A Vichy broadcast reported mass arrests in all the principal towns of unoccupied France as authorities sought to crush widespread activities by "people who are actually helping the enemy break up the French empire."

The Vichy government, apparently fearing an open revolt against France's Nazi conquerors and the puppet Vichy regime, put a strict ban on any public manifestation tomorrow, Armistice Day.

Reports reaching London said the America-British campaign in North Africa was developing so rapidly that it outstripped the Allied communication system and made the situation obscure at several points.

An Allied headquarters spokesman said the whole operation was unreeling with smooth precision and slight American casualties.

As usual, the Axis propaganda machine was bringing out fantastic claims of Allied losses.

Without any confirmation elsewhere, the German radio asserted that a Nazi U-boat had torpedoed a British battleship of the Queen Elizabeth class in the North Atlantic.

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED MONDAY NIGHT

Community Council Holds Session at Wilson School House

The Community Council met at the Wilson Schoolhouse Monday night, with some 50 people in attendance, and during the business session the following officers were elected:

President, Harry Kessler (re-elected); vice-president, Mrs. Hugh Perrill; secretary, Mrs. Robert E. Creamer and treasurer, Charles Montgomery, who was re-elected.

Mrs. W. B. Ford is the outgoing vice-president, and Mrs. Joseph McFadden the outgoing secretary. The Council is composed of the P.-T.A. officers of the county, community organization officers, district superintendents and school principals.

Mrs. Dorothy Turnpseed, school lunch supervisor, spoke on the subject of nutrition.

Delbert Woodford, executive assistant to the state director of education, spoke on "The Power of Education."

Woodford stressed the importance of keeping the schools open and functioning during the war period, and said failure to do so might cause America to "lose the peace."

Approximately 15 P.-T.A. and other school organizations were present, but the tire shortage apparently reduced the attendance. A delicious covered dish supper was a feature of the meeting.

Atlantic and declared German undersea raiders "successfully attacked British and American warships and transports off the African coast."

An Allied spokesman flatly denied previous Vichy claims that four Allied warships and six transports had been sunk.

MAN FROM HERE ON SHIP SUNK OUT OF CONVOY

Bernard Wilson in Lifeboat 8 Days Before He Is Picked Up and Taken to Russia

A former Washington C. H. man doesn't have to have anyone tell him about what a job it is for the United States to supply her Allies across the sea with food and war materials.

He knows from spine-tingling personal experiences.

It was on July 5, while his old home town friends were still thinking about the Fourth of July celebration just ended, that a torpedo came crashing into an American merchant ship far out in the North Atlantic. On that ship, bound for Russia, was Bernard Wilson, who used to live in Washington C. H.

Now, after three months, the story can be told. But, not in much detail for Wilson is reticent.

He has just gone back to New York after a short visit with his sister, Mrs. Roy Dickerson of Lakeview Avenue. There he is going to sign up for another trip out—the supplies must go through and he is going to see that they do.

While here, he met a few of his old friends at his sister's home. Under persistent questioning, he told of how his ship had gone down and he had taken to a lifeboat in submarine infested waters with German dive bombers swarming above. Fortunately for the ship's survivors—he did not know how many there were—the enemy was after bigger game and did not molest the tiny bobbing lifeboats. But the convoy and other merchants were too busy fighting back to devote much time to rescues.

He was in that lifeboat for eight days before it was picked up by a Scottish vessel and taken on to a Russian port. There he was taken to a hospital where he spent two weeks recovering from shock and exposure.

Finally getting back to America, he took 30 days to rest up and came on to Washington C. H.

Wilson has been in the United States Merchant Marine for the past 12 years and has made his home in New York, although he came back here occasionally to visit his relatives and friends.

American Indians of the great plains region were chiefly nomadic in character.

Name Famous U.S. Marine Stands Like
That at "WAKE ISLAND"
... Prizes!

Got your sights trained on our "Wake Island" contest prizes and tickets? Good! Let's get down to business, then.

As you probably know by now, the Record-Herald and the State Theatre are offering (prizes) to see "Wake Island," exciting re-enactment of the spirited Marine stand on that hallowed spot in the Pacific. The film opens on Sunday with Brian Donlevy, Macdonald Carey and Robert Preston in top roles.

Read the rules on this page before you get to work. We'll give you a hint or two on the famous Marine stand shown in the accompanying illustration. The Marines were not the main force in this naval encounter, but they were with illustrious Commodore Perry in the War of 1812 when he offered the courtesy of an honorable surrender to the British Admiral. What was the name of the battle? Now, let's go.

- ### RULES --
1. Beginning today and for three additional days, the Record-Herald and the State Theatre, celebrating the arrival of Paramount's dramatic re-enactment, "Wake Island," with Brian Donlevy, Macdonald Carey and Robert Preston, on Sunday, will provide an opportunity for you to win one of War Stamp prizes.
  2. Contestants are asked to name the famous U. S. Marine stand pictured in each of the four installments. There'll be hints in the accompanying stories.
  3. When you have answered all four—and not before—paste them up on one side of a large sheet of paper, and mail your entry to the "Wake Island" Contest Editor, Record-Herald, city. All entries should be postmarked not later than Friday. Decision of the judges shall be final.

An Armistice Day Message from the Soldiers of Former Wars to the 134,000,000 Men, Women and Children Who Are America's Soldiers in the Total War of Today

IN A DOZEN spots throughout the world, American soldiers find themselves today behind the barbed wire of prison camps. This has happened because the first months of America's participation in the war have witnessed the usual defeats of a nation suddenly and treacherously attacked.

Those imprisoned boys look to us to set them free and to avenge the defeats.

But they are not the only prisoners. The once independent nations of Europe and Asia, now under the heel of the Nazi and Jap tyrants, were also treacherously attacked.

In those nations, not soldiers alone but whole populations are now subjected to the cruelties of monsters without likeness in all history.

These millions, too, look to us of the United Nations for liberation.

This is no war for the mere defense of boundaries, or for colonies or for trade. Difficult as it may be for us to understand, the very continuance of civilized living is at stake.

This struggle is world-wide because no single nation, not even the strongest, can any longer defend itself against gangster dictators with airplanes, submarines, and the resources of whole continents at their disposal.

Freedom, decency and justice are possible for none, save in a world where they are secure for all.

This is a lesson we have learned from Manchuria, Ethiopia, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland and the other nations over-run.

"Too bad, but it's none of our business," peace-loving men said each time. And each time that "peacefulness" (or callous indifference) of ours only made the aggressors more confident that no united front of their intended victims would ever challenge their march to conquest.

The idea of the Brotherhood of Man is no longer only an ideal. At long last it has become a law of nature, as rigorous as the law of gravity itself, which men violate at their peril.

Even to be selfish, men must have at least this much wisdom. Else this war, when won, cannot be made to stay won; and every generation will have to pay in blood for its own stupidity.

WE MUST HIGHLY RESOLVE

never again to think of ourselves as isolated from the nations of the world or from the conscience of mankind. Even during this war itself, we must not allow our unity to be destroyed by enemy propaganda devised to get us fighting among ourselves, suspecting our allies, our government officials, our neighbors—worker against employer, negro against white, Christian against Jew, Protestant against Catholic, native-born against foreign-born.

For if the United Nations remain united, and if their unity is carried into the peace, the prospects are for a new world beyond the dreams of prophets.

Human progress is not always slow. There are times when changes, long brewing as ideals in the minds of a few, are realized with electrifying suddenness.

Such a time, at this very instant, may be nearer than we think.

Let us then keep our ideals clearly before us, that we may come through with both victory and a world for which the cost of victory will be justified.

RATIONING PROBLEM
As rationing programs expand, and the number of items on allotment increases, it becomes more and more apparent that the mechanics of the rationing system will have to be simplified and organized.

With boards made up largely of volunteer workers, it was possible to handle the sugar situation—although this single program alone strained the facilities of many communities. Since that time local boards have been granted the power of employing a certain amount of paid help. But the bulk of the work still rests on the shoulders of volunteers.

As time goes on and the program becomes more and more complex, this volunteer system is likely to break down. It is in danger, not because of a lack of willingness on the part of the workers, but because of a lack of available time. Most of these volunteers are holding full-time jobs. As work at the rationing boards increases, many a volunteer will find that he is filling not one, but two full-time positions.

The gasoline rationing system has been simplified to some extent, but still this will be so broad in scope that executives will be at wit's end for workers to meet all the demands. The A cards present a rather simple problem, for each motorist automatically receives one. But before B or C cards can be granted, individual cases again must be studied. Each applicant must fill out a form; each form must be studied. In thousands of cases the individual himself will have to be interviewed. Then there will be appeals from primary decisions which the boards make.

Fuel oil and gasoline are only two in an ever-growing list of rationed items. Soon there may be rubber boots and shoes, coffee, tires, and many less-popular commodities. Soon, it is agreed, meats will be on the list. What other additions will be forthcoming only can be guessed.

We feel that before the program can hope to succeed as it must, eventually, a complete, sound, business-like nationwide system of administration must be set up. And the sooner this is done the better it will be for all of us.

SENSIBLE AND PATRIOTIC
Rubbers and overshoes are not rationed, but as the OPA well stresses, they do constitute a part of the nation's wartime rubber supply, and they deserve the best of care.

Because of their importance to the national health, effort will be made to keep everybody in rubbers and galoshes. Whether this can be done will depend upon the public's cooperation. Don't let

Washington at a Glance

By CHARLES P. STEWART
WASHINGTON—Upon what spot in Latin America should Uncle Sam concentrate the nub of his effort to publicize all the new world's southerly republics into one group, among themselves and allied with our own country, in opposition to the Axis?

The Office of War Information is studying this question pretty intensively. It is worth consideration. Our brand of national advertising was quite effectively employed on the lower side of the Rio Grande during the last conflict, and it should be a still simpler proposition today, for the reason that our present diplomacy has a more friendly comprehension of the Latin temperament than that of Woodrow Wilson did. We might even succeed in converting Argentina, not to mention Chile, which already shows symptoms of aligning itself with us.

My own experience during the 1914-18 period was as Yankee publicity manager in the River Plate area, with Buenos Aires as headquarters. Argentina then, as now, was very stubbornly neutral, but it might have been won over with a reasonable degree of tactfulness from Washington, and it probably can be today if we're as suave with the folk there as the Roosevelt administration has demonstrated that it knows how to be.

The point from which our local management undoubtedly ought to operate is Rio de Janeiro. Mexico City is highly important but it's so close to us as to be readily accessible.

From our side of the border, Buenos Aires is the western hemisphere's premier southern metropolis and needs to be energetically cultivated, but it's still exceedingly neutral, whereas Rio is belligerently one of our anti-Axis party members.

A Vital Jump
Now, South America's eastern coastal bulge isn't to be forgotten, a bulge opposite to Vichy French Africa's western bulge, with Dakar at its westernmost, the shortest hop across the southern Atlantic and apt to become a jump of the utmost military importance as the war wages along.

At the extremity of Brazil's easterly bulge, toward Dakar, is Natal. However, only a trifling jump from the bulge's apex is the far more important Brazilian city of Pernambuco (also known as Recife), with materially better port facilities than Natal's. As to the bulge, I'd award the prize to Pernambuco, of course not disregarding Natal in emergencies.

On that bulge issue Pernambuco seems to me to have the edge on every other place.

Rio isn't geographically as available as either of the other two. The fact remains, though, that it's the Brazilian capital, whence come all the republic's wartime orders, and it isn't far outside the critical orbit, either.

Rio then, strikes me as IT beyond the tip of Florida down to Tierra del Fuego.

SURVEY OF OPINION

An interesting experiment is under way in Kansas City. The Civic Research Institute is conducting a continuing poll to ascertain public reaction to the conduct of the city's business.

The "audit" is intended, of course, to probe public opinion. It has the secondary function of discovering how much the people really do think about municipal problems.

And an inevitable effect would seem to be to make the voters do more thinking about their government, know more about it, realize more alertly that it is their creature to be improved or degraded at their will.

Treatment of Nose During a Cold Varies as it Advances

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A COLD in the head is an infection of the mucous membrane of the nose. In health, the membrane of the nose is an extensive, thick, soft cushion, covered with mucous, and well supplied with blood vessels.

When a cold strikes, this membrane goes through three stages

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

of change. First, there is a great engorgement of the blood vessels, and there is also a drying of the surface of the membrane. This gives the feeling of tightness, stiffness and dry discomfort. The second stage is when white blood cells, or phagocytes, wander out on the surface of the membrane and begin to fight the germs. There is some little discharge at this time, but of a watery character.

The third stage is one in which the germs have been licked and engulfed by the white blood cells, and they begin to be discharged in masses of mucus. The mucous glands have been stimulated to abnormal activity and great masses of mucus are discharged.

General Treatment
The general treatment of a cold consists in making the patient as comfortable as possible with rest, hot foot baths, protective blankets and such medicines as aspirin.

Everyone, however, thinks that the local condition in the nose should be treated, and while this does appear logical, it should be done with some regard for the changes that are going on.

During the first stage applications to the inside of the nose are not only futile, but harmful. What is needed is moisture for the swollen, dry membrane. So steam inhalations and steam kettles to moisten the atmosphere are in order. Plenty of fluids by mouth, so that the whole body is full of fluid, is an adjunct to the local administration of moisture.

During the second stage—about the second or third day—the less local treatment the better because manipulation might interfere with the action of the white blood corpuscles.

Douches and Sprays

The third stage, heralded by the discharge of mucus and pus, indicates that the battle between the germs and the white blood corpuscles is about over and now local treatment may be of great help and relief. The accumulated debris should be removed by douching and softening sprays.

As good a solution to use as any is salt solution. It dissolves mucus and does the slightest amount of harm.

Drugs for the nose should be selected with care as the ones with destructive action do more harm than good.

A new method of giving vaccines for the prevention of colds is to spray it in the nose. Good results are reported in 74 per cent of cases, failures in 16 per cent.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

O. S.:—Is there danger of cancer's developing from fibroid tumor of the uterus? Is there danger of cancer's developing from a large laceration of the uterus? Is there any medication that would reach these conditions enough to heal without having an operation?

Answer: Fibroid of the uterus—no danger of cancer. Laceration of cervix—there is a chance of cancer's developing. Using some sort of palliative medication for these things is far more dangerous than the simple operation involved.

AUSSIES BEST JAPS IN BATTLE AROUND MILNE BAY

Australian soldiers file down a road in the Milne bay area of New Guinea past abandoned Japanese tanks that were knocked out of action as the Aussies put the enemy to flight. The Japs were defeated when they attempted to land troops in the area. Now, in another section of New Guinea, Allied troops have driven within a few miles of the Jap base at Kokoda.

CHAPTER FOUR

THE DOORMAN at the Belvedere Chateau knew the rakish lines of the car winding its way up the Hollywood hillside. As the headlights flashed around the last sharp curve, he stroled across the awninged entrance to arrive at the doorway exactly when the car pulled to a stop.

"Good evening, Mr. Martin," Bruce grinned a friendly greeting and went into the palatial, glittering building.

He crossed the marble foyer with his arrogant, slouching gait and ascended the stairs. Such an impatient man, the girl at the switchboard smiled to herself. Never could wait for an elevator.

Toinette's maid took his light sport topcoat and gave a glance of dismay at his tan tweed suit. But Bruce was crossing the white, high entrance hall to pause at the top of the three steps leading into the drawing room. "Hello."

Toinette, her white evening dress in sharp relief against the rich, dark scenic-tapestried wall, whirled about with a low cry of welcome. Then she stood staring at him, the jade cigarette still flaming in her raised hand.

Bruce returned her gaze across the luxurious splendor of a room that was a replica of one in the Palace of Versailles. One black eyebrow lifted in amused irony.

"You look like the Statue of Liberty."

"You didn't dress!" She snapped the lighter shut.

"No. Want to make something of it?"

Toinette's small hands clenched under their rings. She controlled her emotions with tremendous effort. Then she moved toward him across the deep rug, her lips trembling with sympathy.

"Darling! You are blue again!" She took his hand and cradled it in hers, then lifted it in a sweeping gesture to her lips, held it against her cheek. "You feel better now?"

Bruce Martin uttered a mirthless laugh. "You're a devil, Toinette." He jerked his hand from her. "You'd make a first-class military strategist."

She moved closer to him and raised her slumberous eyes to search his face in a compelling gaze. "You think my advances are—well timed?"

"Yeah," Bruce admitted sardonically, "but it's your retreats that are masterpieces."

Her eyes held his, her fingers moved slowly up the sleeve of his coat. With a bitter smile he came down the three steps and took her in his arms.

The telephone rang, and the maid came in to wait for their kiss to end. "Mister Jackson," she said.

Bruce released her quickly. "Run along," he said. "The great career is calling."

Toinette raised her hands to pull his face toward her. "I love you," she said in her husky, pulsing accent. "I think we should be married, yes?"

He tore her hands away with an angry gesture. "So now it's slapstick, is it?"

She didn't wait to argue with him, but turned and ran through the hall, closing the door behind her. She talked to Link Jackson from her turquoise satin chaise longue.

"Bruce is here," she nodded, "and I have just told him we would be married."

"What did he say?" Link's peremptory tones carried clearly.

She shrugged delicate shoulders. "But naturally he is overwhelmed." "Uh huh. Well—Ciros tonight." "But he is not dressed. We might stay home just once, Link, yes?"

"No!" Link thundered. "The studio photographer is going to be there. He'll get the official engagement snaps. You be at Ciro's in an hour or you can look for a new agent, see?"

Bruce was in one of the deep divans, smoking savagely, when Toinette came back to the drawing room. She crept into the circle of his arm and whispered. "It ees not a joke, darling. I think we should be married."

"Yeah?"

"You wanted to marry me once," she reminded him in a silken, husky whisper.

"Sure. I was nuts on the subject. But you showed me what I was in your life." His voice was hard with its old bitterness, his lips drooped in their sardonic smile.

"You don't want to marry me now?"

"I don't think so. You've got your career. I've got my freedom. We're both happy, aren't we?"

She answered in a whisper so fragile it was barely audible. "I am—desperately—unhappy." Slowly she raised her small, exquisite face to look at him through tear-wet eyes.

"I—love—you," she murmured, and raised her arms to wind them about his neck in passionate embrace. Bruce Martin was caught once more in the tortuous maze of his emotions.

For those few moments, the old nery tenderness swept over them. Bruce lapsed into the dreams that this exotic creature had first aroused in him.

"We'll go away somewhere!" he said again. "We'll leave everything behind—find a lonely spot out of the world..."

But her time was growing short. Toinette murmured they would talk of their life tomorrow. Now they must celebrate.

"I will go weath you while you change," she planned.

"We're not going anywhere." Bruce was his old, buoyant, commanding self again. "We're going to stay here and break a bottle of champagne."

"Let's break it at Ciro's," Toinette pleaded. "I want to go to Ciro's. Please let us go to Ciro's, darling."

His fingers pressed hard into her white, bare shoulders. "Why? Because it's important to your career?"

"Of course not!"

His eyes were black with suspicion, distrust. "I don't think you have changed," he accused her. "I think this is just a trick. Another one of Jackson's ideas, probably. Isn't it? ISN'T IT?"

"No," she cried hoarsely. "I love you."

His hands dropped to his side. His voice was heavy with disgust.

"I don't know why I got on this merry-go-round again." He turned and left. The door slammed after him.

He drove with fendish fury back down the hill, with the lights of Hollywood spread out below in gay, colored pattern. Passion and bitterness again held him in their relentless grasp. His mind a seething turmoil, he turned the car almost unconsciously toward the ocean. Half an hour later he pulled up to the gate leading to the Nordes landing field, waited for his signal to pass, and roared on through to come to a sliding halt beside the great hangar.

A plane stood in the shadow of the hangar. The mechanic grinned at Bruce as he appeared. "You taking her up, Mr. Martin?"

Bruce nodded. As he climbed into the plane, he saw the boss and Nate, the test pilot, walking around the corner of the hangar toward the plane. As the engine roared and the plane swept forward, they shouted, came on running, their arms waving in important attempts to stop him. Bruce smiled grimly. His fingers gripped the controls, and he pointed the nose of the plane up toward the moonlit sky.

Mail from Home Means Much on Solomons

(Editor's Note: The following story, distributed by the Associated Press, was written by a Marine Corps correspondent from Arlington, Va.)

SERGEANT JAMES W. HURLBUT GUADALCANAL, Solomon Islands—(Delayed)—(P)—Amid battles which are making history, and with sudden death drifting through the jungles, one of the important events to the Marines holding these islands is the arrival of mail from home.

Time is reckoned from one arrival of mail to the next—and the dates always seem far between. During the interim, much time is devoted to lengthy discussions of such questions as: When will the next mail arrive? How much will there be? And how recent will be the dates of the letters when they arrive?

By some mysterious grapevine, the fact that mail has arrived is known by every Marine on the island almost before the first bag had hit the beach. The pace of activity increases. Good humor radiates. The mail handlers in each company are kept under constant observation.

Then comes that long-awaited moment when the jeep roars up with its precious cargo of mail bags in the back seat. All activity ceases for a few minutes. Differences in rank seem to disappear. Dignified colonels and plain privates stand side by side in eager anticipation.

"Kelly, Jones, Abernathy, Wyzkowski," the mail distributor calls.

"Here's Abernathy." "I'll take Kelly's," come the replies. The mail distributor flips the letters out with the skill of a magician sailing playing cards over a theater audience. Joe Gordon, of the New York Yankees, couldn't handle a line drive with more dexterity than a Marine intercepting his letter from home.

All hands stand fast until the mail bag is empty. There is always a chance that that last pink envelope might be "the" one. Nope, it's one more for that Lucky fellow, Kelly.

Then each man, his prized collection of letters in his hands, moves away. The gregariousness that exists during air raids disappears when the time comes to catch up on the doings of the folks back in the states. The sacred business of reading mail from home requires solitude.

Current novelty on Guadalcanal is the arrival of letters written on V-mail stationery. Their microfilm perfection fascinates souvenir-loving Marines. Specimens are passed from hand to hand. Best of all is the speed of their transmission.

Home seems a lot closer to Guadalcanal when the mail moves faster, and V-mail is the fastest of all.

The most forlorn figure in the world is the Marine who draws a blank in the mail distribution. So, if you're proud of these fighting leathernicks who are winning the battle for the Solomons, and want to do something to help keep their efforts in high gear, keep the mail bags filled to overflowing.

24th Birthday Observed by Mrs. S. B. Hoppes

Observing a rare occasion and one to be greatly honored, the immediate family, relatives and friends of Mrs. S. B. Hoppes gathered at her home near New Martinsburg on Sunday, to compliment her on her ninety-fourth birthday.

Thirty-five guests arrived at the noon hour, bestowing their affection and congratulations on the beloved honor guest.

Everyone came with well-filled tapers of most appealing viands, and the dinner hour was one of numerous pleasures.

A large assortment of gifts and cards were opened by Mrs. Hoppes, who made gracious response for each.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hall, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hoppes, Mr. Charles Hoppes, Mr. John Hoppes, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zurfue and family, Mr. Glenn Hoppes and daughter, Loretta, Mr. and Mrs. William McFadden and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hoppes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hoppes, Miss Naomi Hoppes, Mr. Wendell Hoppes, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Whitmer, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoppes, Mr. Sam R. Hoppes, Mrs. Cora Binegar and Junior Holden.

Royal Chapter Number 29, OES, Elects Officers

Royal Chapter Number 29 of the OES convened Monday night for their regular monthly meeting in the Masonic Temple for the purpose of election of officers for the coming year.

Officers elected were as follows: Worthy Matron, Mrs. Bernadine Deere; Worthy Patron, Mr. Herbert Clickner; Associate Matron, Mrs. Cecile Allen; Associate Patron, Mr. W. C. Allen; Secretary, Mrs. Margaret Colwell; Treasurer, Mrs. May Phillips; Conductress, Mrs. Edith Hayes; Associate Conductress, Mrs. Marie Williams and Trustee, Mrs. Dorothy Clark.

Staunton WSCS

Mrs. Claudius Lamb graciously opened her home to the ladies of the Staunton WSCS for their regular meeting, and was assisted in the hospitalities by Mrs. Maude Leeth.

The meeting opened with a song, "Beautiful Garden of Prayer," followed by devotion and prayer by Mrs. J. H. Baughn. During the business meeting which was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ruth Backenstoe, a pledge for a very liberal amount to the Million Dollar Pension Fund of the Ohio Annual Conference was made by the society.

The program leader, Mrs. Leo Baughn, gave out clever readings which were read during the social hour, followed by the serving of delicious refreshments.

Party for Betty Lucas

One of the loveliest parties of the week end was given Miss Betty Lucas, when a group of her intimate friends gathered at the home of Miss Sarah Lyon, to honor her with a surprise party, observing her natal anniversary.

The party came as a complete surprise to the guest of honor, who was showered with a large array of lovely gifts.

A delicious collation was served during the evening, after which the guests went to the G. A. R. hall for the dance sponsored by the Beta chapter of Gradale Sorority.

Making up the party were Misses Martha Carter, Frieda Fultz, Helen Willis, Doris Steed, Jean Mallow, Mary Jo Renick, the guest of honor and the hostesses.

Attend Greenfield Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Magly, Mr. John Wilson, Mrs. Chalmers Kelley, Mrs. Harry Sprenger, Mrs. Arthur Finley, Mrs. A. B. Murray, Miss Emma Jackson, Mrs. Ralph Hayes, Mrs. Ormond Dewey and Mrs. S. A. Dewey were in Greenfield Monday evening where they heard talks by three missionaries recently returned from foreign fields, at the Greenfield Presbyterian Church. A chicken supper preceded the evening's program of most interesting and inspiring talks.

Country Club Potluck Supper Enjoyable Affair

The Country Club covered dish supper brought out about forty club members and their families Monday evening for the informal good time that always is a feature.

The table prettily bedecked in bright tinted autumn leaves, were filled with an array of wonderfully prepared eatables, as tempting to the eye as to the appetite. The large crowd filled around the tables, buffet fashion and found places at small tables in congenial groups.

The committee, Mrs. Joe Corberly, Mrs. Frank Boso and Mrs. Robert Edge managed the evening's entertainment admirably and everyone was enthusiastic over the delightful affair.

The usual card game that always provokes an enjoyable evening after the supper hour, was again as merry and jolly as any previous.

By request of all the members these gay parties are being continued throughout the winter months, and are always gaily anticipated.

Young Boys Cook Chicken Dinner At Rudducks'

A jolly and most hilarious time was provided by Bill Rudduck on last Saturday evening, when he invited eleven young friends to his home for a chicken supper and evening of cards.

Every boy came prepared to help with the cooking of the very appealing dishes, which caused no end of merriment throughout the evening. Everything from soup to nuts was fixed by the youthful chefs, and the three course menu was a feast for a king when they finally found their places at the dining table. The hour around the table was exceptionally gay, with each one participating in the jolly conversation which goes with such an informal gathering.

After the group had "laundered the dishes," and put the finishing touches on the dinner plates, they gathered around the dining table for a game of cards until a late hour.

Mothers' Circle Assembles for November Meet

The November meeting of the Mother's Circle, held in the Federated Club room, brought together fourteen members to hear three exceptionally well prepared papers.

Mrs. Ben Norris, the president, conducted the meeting at which time finished Red Cross sewing was turned in and other distributed.

Mrs. Fred Rost was program chairman for the afternoon, and in turn presented Mrs. Eugene Smith whose paper on War and Discipline was very well given and received.

In the absence of Mrs. Carroll Halliday, who had prepared an interesting and inspiring review, the topic: "Can the Youngest Take It?" Mrs. W. J. Hilly read the paper.

A paper on "Your Boys or Girls Employed or Jobless Tomorrow" written by Mrs. Hazel Bidwell, and presented by Mrs. Charles Reinke, brought forth many comments, and discussion.

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(P)—This (if read) probably will draw rebuttals from at least 47 places, but off this season's football records we figure it will be just too bad for other states if those Ohio grid coaches ever carry out their threat to route all their good players to Ohio State . . . as if the Buckeyes weren't already good enough, just think what they'd be if you added, say, Frankie Sinkwich and his catcher, George Poschner, now at Georgia; Eddie Prokop from Cleveland and Georgia Tech; Hills Hume and Jack Martin of Navy; Rochester's Jimmy Secrest, leading scorer in the east, and those Colgate freshmen from Columbus, Jack Clifford and Walt McQuade, who were two good reasons why Columbia lost that "basketball" game Saturday . . . Anyway, you no longer can say the way to get a football team is to head for the Pennsylvania coal mines.

Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune: "We'll make a small wager that Dewey (Snorter) Luster of Oklahoma is the envy of more than one college coach . . . If Luster has any intricate football problems, he doesn't have to go off his campus to get expert advice from the nation's No. 1 football coach . . . That is, if Lieut. Comm. George Halas of Naval Aviation has any time for football problems."

Uncertainty Facing Golf Tournaments

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(P)—The professional golfers' association of America, reporting a lucrative 1942 season, today peered through transportation and gasoline rationing difficulties and found 1943 tournament golf tagged with a question mark instead of a dollar mark.

Their winter tour limited to the Miami, Fla., and Pinehurst, N. C., North-South opens after cancellation of four California meets and the Augusta Masters' in April, P.G.A. representatives were uncertain, as well as indefinite, of next year's plans.

Today's second session of the national meeting was to include election of officers and discussion of new business, which presumably meant the mapping of war-time promotion of sectional tournaments or matches involving four to eight players and scheduling exhibition tours for Red Cross benefit and the stimulation of war bond sales.

In prehistoric times there were horses on the North American continent but they died out long before the arrival of Europeans.

HARD PRACTICES TO BE IN ORDER LATER IN WEEK

Ten Boys Will Put on Blue And White for Last Time Against Circleville

After a week end of nursing sore muscles into shape and receiving much well deserved credit for the defeat handed Bexley last Friday night, the tough little WHS Blue Lions began preparation Monday after school for this Friday night game here with the Circleville Tigers.

The Lions stake their South Central League lead on this game and are anxious to win it. This game, the last of the 1942 season, will see 10 members of the squad in the blue and white for the last time. Among the seniors on the team that play their last game Friday night are: Bob Allen, captain and center; Don Harper, tackle; Alex Wackman, right end; John Anderson, quarterback; Joe Tillet, left halfback; Paul Shouls, right halfback; Perce "Powerhouse" Mann, fullback; Hunter Morris, end; Stan Mark, back and Marlyn Engle, left end.

The Circleville game Friday night will mean the difference between undisputed first place in the S.C.L. or a three way tie with Greenfield and Circleville. Coach Jerry Kissell said the short Monday practice was to get the "kinks" out of the boys. The session included calisthenics, passing, punting, line charging and also 100 yard foot races among the boys. Before they took the field for their practice, they held a short meeting in the Field House, where Coach Kissell talked to them.

He said: "I don't know how tough a team Circleville is, but you can find out for yourselves, that they are no 'pushovers.' Friday night is the last chance for some of you boys to play football for me and for WHS, so I will leave it up to you. It's your chance to clinch the S.C.O. title, if you make up your minds to do it. Go out there and play ball. That's what I want you to do. This is your ball game, and you know what you want to do with it. When that Circleville team comes over here Friday night, it will have the same thought in mind that you boys will have. They want a piece of that S.C.O. crown as bad as you do. In order for you boys to win the championship, you will have to get out there and work together. When you beat a team, that is when you have your fun out of a football game. And the only way to have any fun, is to get out on that field and beat the other team to the punch. This practice tonight, is to just get the kinks out. But tomorrow night, we will really get down to work, and put plenty of spirit in the workouts, so as to get in the mood to give the Circleville boys a real going over. You boys last Friday night really got the spirit and were really working together. That's what I like to see out of my ball team."

Spectacular High School Grid Season Nears Close After Weekend of Upsets

By JOHN COLBURN

COLUMBUS, Nov. 10.—(P)—Ohio's high school athletes trade football togs for basketball uniforms in many sectors this week as the 1942 gridiron season nears a close with Massillon's unperturbable Tigers rolling their victory string to 51 games.

With basketball play already started in many districts, some scholastic gridgers wound up their season last week and only a few games are carded after this week's contests.

Bob Lucas, Paulding's 18-year-old sensational junior NE go backfield star, ended his season with a terrific scoring spurge to grab the individual point-making championship. He garnered 53 to run his season's total to 272 points as Paulding beat Elida 62 to 0 to win the Little Buckeye Conference championship.

Lucas in this three years of football has counted 468 points. While Massillon was annexing win No. 51 by trouncing Toledo Waite 34 to 14, its traditional rival, Canton McKinley, gain encouragement for their approaching grudge battle with the Tigers by swamping Mansfield 61 to 0. McKinley Partisans pointed out that Massillon was able to beat Mansfield only 32 to 0. They clash November 21.

Six other teams in addition to Massillon kept long victory records intact in last week's engagements.

The Xenia Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans' Home eleven concluded its season by chalking up its 28th straight win in a game with Lancaster Boys' Industrial School.

Powhatan was held to a surprise 13-all tie by St. Clairsville, but maintained a record of being unbeaten in 25 games. Tiltonville has 23 straight, Lakewood 21, Toledo Libbey 17 and Fredericktown 14.

Other undefeated teams this year include: Columbus North, Miamisburg, Dover, Boardman, Arlington, Hudson, and Sandusky St. Mary's, all triumphant in eight games, and Dayton Lakewood, winner of seven.

While Lakewood was winning its 21st consecutive game against Shaker Heights the Rangers had their go crossed for the first time. Quack Gruppadauria, Shaker Heights halfback, sprin-ed 80 yards to give Shaker 6 points against Lakewood's 32.

Another of Ohio' sunscored on teams not only was scored on but was outscored. Medina had blanked its opponents in winning seven straight games, but Clearview apparently hadn't heard about the record. Clearview trounced Medina on its home field 20 to 6.

Undefeated Dover is expected to have little trouble beating Cambridge Friday night to clinch the Central Ohio League title while the Muskingum Valley League title went to Glastonbury which hadn't lost any of its six league games.

Up in northeastern Ohio, Ash-tahula holds the reins in the Lake Shore League with a season record of six wins and a tie. Down in the Southeastern Ohio League Middleport also continued unbeaten but tied once in seven games.

Sandusky St. Mary's by finishing its eight games without a loss gave Coach Lee Zierolf his fourth undefeated team in 10 years of coaching at Sandusky. The others were in 1934, 1935 and 1940.

The only individual close to Lucas in the individual scoring competition is Ollie Cline of Fredericktown, whose 149 points in six games this year still left him 122 behind Lucas. Cline got 13 as Fredericktown won its 14th straight over Granville 20 to 0.

Tiltonville owed its 23rd straight to Regis Leonard, who hurled three touchdown passes in the 20 to 13 win over neighboring Yorkville. Last spring, it was Leonard who pitched Tiltonville to the Ohio scholastic baseball championship.

The big game of the week on the scholastic front—Lakewood trying for victory No. 22 against powerful Canton McKinley.

Most disappointed player of the past week—Don Cunningham of Glastonbury, who ran an intercepted pass 101 yards only to have the touchdown called back because of a penalty.

OHIO-ILLINOIS GAME MAY UNRAVEL BIG TEN FOOTBALL HODGEPODGE

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(P)—You could put your finger on a front runner in eastern, south-west and Missouri Valley grid sectors, but after what happened Saturday it may take the rest of the season to pick champions in such major conferences as the Big Ten, Southeastern and Pacific coast.

In the east, Bowl-bound Boston College stood out like a sheet in a breeze following its 28-0 victory over Temple and had only three lightly regarded opponents between it and an all-victorious season.

The Eagles will go to work on the first of that trio Saturday when they tangle with Fordham, 26-13 loser to Louisiana State.

A couple of big little eastern teams, Williams and Amherst, both unbeaten and untied, meet Saturday. Navy, a surprise 7-0 winner over Pennsylvania, meets Columbia in an eastern headline while Princeton faces Yale, Brown bumps into Harvard and Penn tacks State.

Army, blanked 13-0 by Notre Dame, will attempt to halt a two-game losing streak against Virginia Tech. Cornell plays Dartmouth and Colgate meets Syracuse.

Georgia Tech Top Team of Country Now

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—(P)—It isn't likely that last Saturday's collection of upsets will be duplicated this weekend but that doesn't mean there won't be a lot of shifting in the next Associated Press poll to determine the 10 best collegiate football teams.

Right now Georgia and Georgia Tech are at the top of the ladder of public opinion as expressed by 112 experts and isn't likely that the Sinkwich, Davis, Trippi & Co. outfit will be much disturbed by Chattanooga.

But Georgia Tech, with its head coach ordered from the gridiron by his physician, runs smack into Alabama, in second place two short weeks ago and still in fifth position despite its defeat by Georgia.

Another battle finds fourth place Notre Dame tangling with Michigan, in sixth place although it lost earlier in the season to both the Iowa Pre-Flight Cadets and to Minnesota.

The complete first ten, with their first place votes in parentheses and their points figured

Georgia (85)	1088
Georgia Tech (14)	988
Boston College (10)	819.5
Notre Dame (1)	722.6
Alabama	418.6
Michigan	349
Wisconsin	208.6
Texas	207.6
Tulsa (1)	205.5
Ohio State (1)	204.6

Another contest which involves a pair of leaders is the orphaned Ohio State-Illinois struggle which will be put on in the huge stadium at Cleveland. The Buckeyes, leaders in the first three polls this season, have dropped to tenth place now, although the critic still deems them the best in the country.

Although neither club is in the first grouping, a game involving two of the country's better teams finds Iowa, No. 12, invading Minnesota, No. 16.

Bowling Race Is Tightened As League Leaders Beaten

The Warnerites tightened up the Industrial League race Monday night by taking a two out of three games from the Cleo Cola boys on the Main Street bowling alleys. The Cleo Colas were in a tie at the top of the standing at the end of last week and the Warnerites were a game behind in third place.

At the same time on adjoining alleys, the Albers Marketers, who shared last week's lead with the Cleo Colas were taking a two out of three beating from the Pioneerers, who at the start of the match were in fourth place in the standings.

The Warnerites made the best of their 130 to 109 pin handicap to beat the Cleo Colas in one of the most hotly contested matches to date. They dropped the first game by a sizeable margin but came right back to win the next two with enough to spare to take a 45-pin advantage in the 2615 to 2660 total.

The Albers Marketers also started out with a win but the Pioneerers just turned on the heat in the next two games and won with plenty to spare with total scores of 2626 to 2730. Coil, the Pioneer leadoff man, was the "hot bowler of the evening. He splattered the ducks for a 246 in his second game and ran his three-game total up to 574.

Wanted: Rabbit's Foot

Blue Lion Coach Loses Charm After Bexley Game Won

When it comes to superstitions and such, the old rabbit's foot is always somewhere around—until it's needed again.

Last Friday night, Bill Clickner, the caretaker of Gardner Park, gave Coach Jerry Kissell a rabbit's foot just before the game with the Bexley gridgers and told him to give it to Bob Allen, captain and center of the WHS Blue Lions. He did. Then the caretaker told the coach to tell the captain to toss it over the crossbars of each of the goal posts. That was done too. And, the team won a football game by the narrowest of margins after a tough battle.

Whether it was the rabbit's foot or just plain and fancy hard football that gave the WHS boys a 14 to 13 victory might be debatable. But the game was won and that was the main thing. And, superstitions or not, Lady Luck just isn't one to be taken lightly.

But, back to the rabbit's foot. After the captain threw it over the crossbars, he gave it back to

$25,000 DAMAGE SUIT IS FILED BY WOMAN

Mrs. Ethel M. Biederman, of near Lyndon, has filed a $25,000 damage suit in the Ross County Common Pleas court, against Clark McCalla, tenant on the Biederman farm.

Plaintiff charges McCalla had her arrested on a larceny charge that was false, malicious and without proper cause.

McCalla had charged Mrs. Biederman with stealing 75 bushels of corn. Mrs. Biederman admitted taking 24 to 29 bushels of corn and using it to feed chickens.

GRAIN MARKET

NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—(P)—A marked decrease in activity, some of which could be attributed to usual pre-holiday dullness, was the only feature of the grain market today.

Prices generally were minor fractions under yesterday's close during most of the session, with rye displaying the most weakness, but traders took only a casual interest in the market in view of the fact that there will be no trading tomorrow, Armistice Day.

A waiting attitude prevailed, particularly in regard to the price ceiling on wheat flour. Some traders felt the Commodity Credit Corporation might be forced to permit farmers to redeem wheat from the government loan and sell it on the open market.

Wheat closed ½c lower to ¾c higher, December 1.25½, May 1.28½; corn was ¼-¾c lower, December 83½-84c, oats declined ½c, rye was off ¼-½c, and there was no trading in soybeans.

'INSIDE STORY' OF GERMANY IS HEARD BY GROUP

War Bond Committee from Fayette County Attends Columbus Meeting

Forrest E. Hill, chairman of the Fayette County War Bond Committee, accompanied by a group of committee heads of the county organization, made a trip to Columbus Monday night to attend the Ohio conference of war bond workers. Besides Hill, those making the trip from this city were Ray Brandenburg, Carroll Halliday, Forest P. Tip-ton, W. W. Montgomery and Billie Wilson.

The outstanding event of the Monday night program was the address by Louis P. Lochner, world famed news correspondent who for 19 years was head of the Associated Press Bureau in Berlin, Germany.

Lochner has just recently returned from Germany after a long internment in Berlin after the German declaration of war on the United States and his accurate first hand information on conditions within Germany and the war picture as a whole, proved of profound interest to the huge audience of workers assembled in the Hall of Mirrors at the Deshler Hotel.

Lochner gave a story of conditions in Germany which gave most of his hearers a new insight into the causes and results of the rise of Hitlerism. He made a strong plea against the propa-ganda coming from some quar-ters in this country that the German people as a whole must be crushed completely. He said that a very strong underground movement is active in Germany to get rid of Hitlerism but that it must be carried on with great-est secrecy because of the con-stant threat of death to anyone accused of the slightest effort along this line. He declared that if a free election could be called in Germany he was convinced that at least 60 percent of the German vote would be against Hitlerism. He related scores of incidents to prove this point and asserted that Nazism must be wiped out, not the German people. At the conclusion of his talk Lochner was kept on his feet for an extra half hour an-swering many questions from the audience.

The meeting was called to or-der by Trent Sickles of Colum-bus, well known here by reason of his many business visits to Washington C. H. He is chairman of the Franklin County War Savings Committee.

Roy D. Moore, state adminis-trator of the war bond organiza-tion in Ohio was chairman of the meeting which was addressed by many state and district work-ers in addition to representatives of the U. S. Treasury.

CANNED GOODS SALE LIMITED

Movement To Discourage Hoarding Is Launched In Food Markets

A movement, which was re-cently launched in food markets, to discourage the hoarding of canned goods, has resulted in most of the dealers placing a limit on the amount of canned fruits and vegetables, fish, meats and canned goods generally.

In some of these classes only one can is sold to a customer, while in others the number reaches as high as half a dozen at one time.

By placing a limit on pur-chases, those who would buy in large quantity for hoarding are prevented from doing so.

Packing of fruits and vege-tables in glass, due to the tin shortage, is looming and if the war continues another year, home-packed fruits and vege-tables may be necessary to meet the changed conditions.

The Italian naval base at Spez-ia has the largest and safest nat-ural harbor in the Mediterran-ean.

On the shores of Lake Ladoga, in Russia, winter ice often piles up to a height of 80 feet.

OHIO LANDMARKS PAMPHLET READY

Publication Can Be Had Without Charge

Fayette countians can obtain, without charge, a new pamphlet "Ohio Landmarks", which is being released by The Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, Division of State Memor-ials.

Featuring the folder is a prac-tical map showing the location of major points of historical impor-tance and interest in Ohio. Drawn by William R. Willison, former Ohio State student in Fine Arts and now in the Army Air Corps, the map measures 13½ inches by 11 inches and is reproduced in a warm brown ink on ivory paper.

The body of the folder tells of Ohio's importance in the history of the nation and includes a num-ber of word and pen sketches concerning historic areas admin-istered by the society. These in-clude Fort Ancient, Warren Coun-ty, largest and most imposing pre-historic fortification in the world; Newark Earthworks, outstanding geometric mound builder works; the Rufus Putnam House, Mari-etta, an original section of Ohio's first permanent settlement, now enclosed in Campus Martius Mu-seum; Schoenbrunn Village, New Philadelphia, reconstructed Mor-avian Mission town; Fort Recov-ery, Mercer County, scene of St. Clair's defeat and "Mad" Anthony Wayne's victory over the Fed-erated Indian Tribes; Inscription Rock and Glacial Grooves on Kelleys Island, and the President Grant birthplace on the beautiful Ohio River at Point Pleasant.

With travel drastically reduced, the society is attempting to carry the story of Ohio's landmarks to the people through publications and other mediums according to Erwin C. Zepp, curator of State Memorials. "Ohio Landmarks" will be available without charge at State Memorials throughout Ohio and at the Ohio State Mu-seum in Columbus. Copies will be mailed if a request is address-ed to the museum.

Pvt. Ed Sollars has returned to Ft. Bragg, N. C., after a fur-lough with relatives and friends here.

Pvt. Albert L. Hyer, who is stationed at Ft. Belvoir, Va., spent the week end with his par-ents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hyer, re-turning to duty on Monday.

Private Byron Flax, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Flax, of Jeffersonville, has been trans-ferred from Fort Benjamin Har-ison, Ind., to Camp Crowder, Mo.

Private Valentine N. Beach-dell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beachdell, this city, has been transferred to Jefferson Bar-racks, Mo., from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Captain Ralph Bray, former manager of the local Montgom-ery Ward Company, is now at Princeton, N. J., where he is tak-ing an officers training course in the Army Exchange school. Up-on completion he will be assigned for post exchange duty.

PROTEST IS MADE BY FARM BUREAU

Fayette Farm Bureau has gone on record as opposing action of the two largest radio chains in United States, the National Broadcasting Co. and the Colum-bia Broadcasting System for re-fusing to allow the Cooperative Radio Program, "Let's Get To-gether, Neighbor" to be broad-cast over their systems.

Thousands of cooperators throughout America had con-tributed to a fund of $25,000 for the first nationwide radio series to tell America about coopera-tives. The first broadcast was to have taken place over the national chains beginning Sun-day, October 11, and to have continued for a period of three months.

The board endorsed the action of the Cooperative League Con-gress meeting at Minneapolis some weeks ago which voted un-animously to take the matter before the Federal Communica-tions Commission.

Richard Carroll Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Wilson, near this city, has just begun his training as a bombardier cadet, at Big Spring, Texas Bombardier School. Upon the satisfactory completion of this very difficult course, he will be commissioned as Second Lieutenant in the Army Air Forces.

Friends recently have been advised that First Lieutenant Kenneth Manning, who has been stationed at Augusta, Ga., for special training has been sent to Officers Training School at Mi-ami, Florida, for ten weeks course of schooling. Mrs. Man-ning is with her husband, having taken an apartment at 654 N. W. 34th Street, Miami, Florida.

MRS. VELMA HOUK CLAIMED BY DEATH

NAVY CALLING MEN UP TO 50 YEARS

Good Pay To Be Given Special Workers

Men between the ages of 17 and 50 and who have had con-struction, electrical, or mechani-cal experience are needed by the U. S. Navy for its "Seabee" Reg-iments.

The duties of the Naval Con-struction Regiments will be to build and operate advance bases outside of the Continental Limits of the United States.

Men who join these regiments are enlisted in Class V-6, U. S. Naval Reserve for duration. Pay ranges from $54.00 to $126.00 per month plus dependency allow-ances.

For enlistment or additional information, applicants should apply Navy Recruiting Station, Chillicothe, or see the Navy Recruiter, who makes scheduled trips to the larger towns in this district. Postmaster W. E. Pas-more can supply this informa-tion.

AMERICAN by FOSTORIA

Many years ago, Fostoria intro-duced to American women crystal dinnerware perfectly satisfactory for serving all kinds of hot foods and drinks.

Complete service sets became popular; a correct and preferable setting for many occasions. Of many patterns, none proved to be as popular as "American." Durable, beautiful, it is also a supremely useful line, character-ized by an abundance of incen-dental, indispensable table pieces.

The most authentic of all Early American reproductions, Fostoria's "American" fits with any scheme of table furnis-hing or decoration; particularly colonial, provincial or modern. You will like "American," its luster, brilliance, and prismatic reflections. It is decidedly in-ex-pen-sive. An entire luncheon set can be assembled at very little cost. There are over 175 separate items for your selection. Some of these are as little as 50c each.

CONSERVATION WILL BE TAUGHT IN THE SCHOOLS

Distribution of New Book To Be Made Within Next Two Weeks

Teaching of conservation in the public schools will become an actuality within the next few weeks, when a new book now on the press is distributed.

Announcement of the fact is made in a joint report to Gov-ernor John W. Bricker, Conser-vation Commissioner Don Wa-ters, and State Director of Edu-cation, Kenneth F. Ray, have announced the program is ready.

"Conservation for Tomorrow's America" is the title of the book, which will be distributed with-in the next two weeks. It is full of helpful teaching materials and suggestions and was prepar-ed, as the first of several con-templated units, especially for junior and senior high school teachers. Much of the material, however, is adaptable for all teachers and may be used in other grades, pending the addi-tion of other teaching units.

Those in charge of the con-servation and education pro-gram state that they are not urging that conservation be taught as a separate course, pointing out that every teacher, in every grade, in every subject, has an opportunity to teach con-servation through the integration of this conservation material in the various subjects taught.

EFFECTIVE ON TELEPHONE CHARGES INCLUDED ON NOVEMBER BILLS

The United States Government Revenue Act of 1942 increases the tax on most items of telephone service and changes the method of computing the tax on long distance calls and report charges of 25c and over. The following changes affect telephone bills of November 6 and after:

LOCAL SERVICE
Local Service and Equipment • Metropoli- (Tax increased from 6% to 10% of the tax or Additional Local Message Units . . } charges.* Guarantee for Local Messages from Coin (10% tax upon guarantee beginning Box telephones . . . . . } September 1, and after.*

LONG DISTANCE SERVICE AND TELEGRAMS
Telephone Messages and Report (Tax increased from 6% to 10% Charges Under 25c . . . . . } of the charges.*
Telephone Messages and Report Charges of 25c and Over
Effective November 1, charges are increased from 5c for each 50c or fraction thereof to 20% of the total charge for all such calls on your bill. On calls from coin box telephones, this tax will be computed to the nearest 5c.

Telegrams
On Western Union and Postal telegrams shown on telephone bills after November 1, instead of a 10% tax on each telegram, there will be a 15% tax upon the total charge for telegrams within this country and a 10% tax for the total charge for telegrams to other countries. On telegrams placed from coin box telephones, the tax will be computed to the nearest 5c.

SPECIAL SERVICES
Leased Wire, Teletypewriter or Talking Circuit Special Services.
Tax increased from 10% to 15% of the charges.*
*If service was furnished prior to September 1, 1942, the tax rate when service was furnished applies.
